Phillip Tucker is the author of the fiction novels, The Path to Betrayal, The Path to Redemption, Gun Barrel Planets – Planet Salvation, Gun Barrel Planets – New America, Bella's Pact and Adrian's Blight.

When Phillip Tucker made a bet with his wife, he did not know it would turn into a career move. Phillip's dislike for a book he received as a birthday present from his wife, prompted her to jokingly bet her husband that he could not write his own book.

It took three years to publish his first book with the second two years later, now he has six books published with more on the way. Admitting that English was not his favourite subject at school, Phillip has always been a compulsive book reader and hopes that although his books may lack in the editing department the storylines will capture readers.

The first two books, The Path to Betrayal and The Path to Redemption are action stories about an Australian soldier in an American Special Forces unit and his transition from a 'naïve youth to a ruthless killer'.

The Gun Barrel Planets series is a science fiction adventure for any age about a young man's search to unlock the secrets of an ancient alien device.

If you are looking for a suspense thriller than Bella's Pact is the book for you. Confronted by pure evil, the four friends are bound together by their twisted life experiences and their incestuous love for one another.

A book made for the big screen, Adrian's Blight follows a young man's dreams of honoring his father's memory is turned into a genetic weapon.

Published by Ingram Spark, all 6 books are now available as Paperback Novels and E-Books.
